HOT BATTLE WAGED AT THE LOCAL PRIMARIES

Interest Centered in Republican Nominations for Offices

NAMES OF THE WINNERS

Duvall, Gaut, Rickey and Riva Lead in Councilmanic Contest

Like nearly every other community in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania the contest at the primary election in Charleroi Saturday hinged on the Republican nominations. Although a vigorous contest was waged from the time the polls opened until they closed in the interests of various candidates, there was a remarkable freedom from personal rancor or bitterness. An organized effort was made in behalf of several candidates, and it was generally successful. The Republican ticket nominated, however, is a strong one and generally satisfactory to the voters, as it was chosen in a fair contest in the open field.

One of the surprises was the po showing made by the Democratic-Keystone fusion ticket. Both the Democratic and Keystone tickets were the same, but no greater vote was polled for the combined ticket than the Democrats usually cast in the ordinary off year in Charler . Both the Socialists and the Prohibitionists apparently got lost in the shuffle, as the representation they showed at the primary was scarcely worth counting, and shows that they have no local organization, their chief strength being shown usually in the vote for county or State officials.

Basing the vote cast on the total registration, which was 1,736, an exceedingly light vote was polled, but comparing it with the vote of other years, as many voters are absent from town working elsewhere on account of the shut down of local industries, it was a good turn out.

Owin to the early destruction of the return sheets in some of the precincts before the returns could be secured Sunday morning, it is difficult to give exact returns and the Prohibitionist and Socialist vote is so insignificant, that no account is taken of it. The following are the Republican and Democratic Keystone tickets nominated by the voters of their respective parties:

Republican.

Council, full term—David R. Duvall, W. R. Gaut, John K. Rickey. Short term—Frank Riva.

School Director, four years—W. D. Pollock, Jos. Schoener. Six years—John Fries, Carl Mountsier, Dr. F. C. Stahlman. Two years—H. J. Booth, J. M. Hill.

Milk Price Is Up Again

Lacteal Fluid Will Now Cost Local People 10 Cents Per Quart

After allowing milk users of Charleroi the grace of five months low price on milk, dairymen Sunday put their winter rate of 10 cents per quart into effect. The price of milk by agreement of the Fallowfield Dairymen's Association, which really controls the milk trade in Charleroi, was reduced from 10 cents a quart to 8 cents the first of May, this price to stand all summer. For seven months from the first of October the price will be 10 cents—if a brand new agreement doesn't shove the price up another notch.

GOVERNOR GETS WORD

News of Awful Austin Disaster Received by Executive

TAFT SENDS MESSAGE

Governor J. K. Tener's presence in his home town Saturday made Charleroi an important point after the news of the bursting of the dam which wiped out the towns of Austin, Costello and several other hamlets up in Potter county had been flashed over the State. Telegrams poured into Charleroi to the Governor, chiefly from the large newspapers from Philadelphia and other large cities, as well as from official circles. This was the first intelligence Chareroi had of the great disaster which is believed to have wiped out several hundred lives and destroyed millions of dollars worth of property.

Governor Tener, however, had departed for Pittsburg before any of the telegrams reached Charleroi. Messages were wired back to the inquiries telling the senders where to locate the Chief Eecutive of the State, who was appealed to for aid to render assistance to the stricken district. The Governor acted with his usual prompt decision. He dispatched the State Constabulary to the district at once and issued orders to the Adjutant General to rush at once to the stricken district the tents and military supplies of the State to take care of the homeless and destitute people.

Today messages continue to come to Charleroi addressed to Governor Tener. One of these was a message from President Taft dated at Omaha, Nebraska and another was from Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey. Of course the contents of these messages were unknown, as they were relayed to Harrisburg, but it is presumed that President Taft is tendering the assistance of the Government and that Governor Wilson is doing the same for his State. Other messages addressed to the Governor at Charleroi are being constantly received.

NOMINEES FOR COUNCIL

Neither the Democrats or the Keystoners polled a large vote at the Charleroi primaries Saturday. Hays was a favorite over McCarreli for county treasurer and Barnum for Hazen led for county commissioner. Dennison ran ahead for district attorney and Berkhimer for sheriff. The results are as follows, the first number after each name being the total number of votes cast by the Democrats and the second number being total number of votes cast by the Keystoners. There is one exception to this rule, Edward Callaghan who ran only upon the Democratic ticket for Sheriff.

County Commissioner—Barnum 51, 23; Barre 3, 1; Hazen 51, 14; Horn 4, 2; Linn 2, 4; Robison 10, 5; Smith 14, 0; Sutherland 11, 2; Warrick 3, 0; Wilson 5, 3.

County Treasurer—Hays 47, 17; McCarrell 23, 16.

Sheriff—Berkhimer 37, 18; Callaghan 13; Ely 1, 3; Murdock 21, 7; Work 4, 3.

Register of Wills—Bristor 23, 15; Sprowls 25, 4; Young 21, 8.

Prothonotary—Martin 62, 23.

District Attorney—Dennison 55 21; Hana 17, 6.

Clerk or Courts—Chalfant 59, 22.

Coroner—Ferguson 47, 24; Garber 19, 23.

Director of the Poor—Buchanan 24, 17; Clark 29, 10; Coulson 25, 5; Stout 34, 12; Vankirk 14, 5.

Surveyor—T. J. Allen 6, 3; George Johnson 1, C. C. Harison 1.

FIGHT FOR REGISTER

Warm Battle Between Parshall and Wickerham But Former Comes Ahead

With a rather light vote in the county at the primaries Saturday, the Republican slate went through with never a crack. While all returns were not in yet at the county seat at this writing, those received thus far showed that the only really close contest was in the nomination for register of wills. There the fight was close between Boyd C. Parshall and Frank G. Wickerham, the first returns giving the latter a lead. Later returns, however, gave Parshall a comfortable lead which it is thought cannot be overcome by the complete returns. The Republican ticket nominated is as follows:

Commissioners—John A. Berry, Thomas Hill.

Treasurer—S. M. Downer.

Sheriff—Robert G. Lutton.

Register of Wills—Boyd C. Parshall.

Prothonotary—A. V. Lewis.

District Attorney—Richard G. Miller.

Clerk of Courts—William S. Lockhart.

Coroner—James T. Heffran.

Director of Poor—H.D. Brownelle, R. W. Wolfe.

Surveyor—George S. Chaney.

John H. Bowers of Charleroi, who was a candidate for treasurer, is apparently third in the race. Mr. Bowers made a splendid showing in his home tow receiving 463 votes out of the 739 cast for treasurer, and having a clear majority of 197 over all his opponents. It is evident that the support Mr. Bowers had assurance of in many districts failed to materialize at the polls, which was a keen disappointment to him and his many friends who were led to believe that his chances were excellent.

"Jimmy" Heffran, the Speers candidate for coroner, is nominated to succeed himself by a comfortable majority. In spite of the fight on the record of the old county commissioners—Hill and Berry—both are nominated to succeed themselves, the latter leading by a big purality. H. J. Cairns, the Roscoe candidate for county commissioner, got a good vote in his own district, but was not sufficiently strong elsewhere to make much headway. In Charleroi he received 324 votes, which is within 48 of that given to Hill, who led the ticket here. Tom Mitchell, the labor candidate also received a good vote in Chareroi, the number accorded him being 204.

As a matter of fact the so-called Republican slate was on exceedingly strong combination from a personal

SATURDAY'S PRIMARIES.

The Republicans of Pennsylvania did considerable political house cleaning at the primaries on Saturday. Candidates for important offices were nominated in every district and reports indicate that the Republicans moved cautiously and carefully in their selections. In every instance the successful nominees were the choice of the voters expressed by ballot which makes them the undoubted choice of their party.

One of the striking features of the primaries was the evidence of the decay of the so-called reform parties and political isms throughout the State and the apparent return of political sanity to the voters. The primary results indicate positively that the Republican pary in Pennsylvania was never in better form to meet the common enemy in the State contests which will take form immediately after the November election. The Republican leadership in Pennsylvania has been approved by the Republican voters and that promises well for the party in the future.

FOUR WINNERS IN THE COUNTY FIGHT

S. M. Downer, Republican nominee for County Treasurer.

Dr. A. V. Lewis, Donora man who polled a big vote for Prothonotary.

Boyd C. Parshall, winner of Republican nomination for Register.

Richard G. Miller, popular Republican nominee for District Attorney.

FALLS SHORT.

The Fallowfield Milkmen's Association has one feature of the trust business down pat, and that is the selling price. The members meet and boost the price to ten cents a quart, which perhaps lets them out of the hole, but shoves the consumer deeper down into the slough of despond.

If carried out to its full extent, the trust idea ought to not only cheapen production—or distribution in this case—to the consumer, and at the same time make easier conditions for the producers. If the milkmen had cheapened the cost of distribution instead of raising the price they would have accomplished the same end. As it is too much money is invested in horses, milk wagons, cans, and other outfits, and too much labor is expended in distributing the milk to patrons. One or two wagons would perhaps suffice in hauling the milk to the town and distributing it where now perhaps a dozen are used. This is the benefit of the trust methods but is is usually worked to the disadvantage of the consumer instead of the advantage.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"The thing to do after election is to smile and look pleasant," remarked a defeated candidate for one of the borough offices this morning. "Upon the solicitation of many of my neighbors I consented to let my name appear on the Republican ticket for one of the borough offices. I can truthfully say I didn't want the office and made no hustle for it. I am not sore, over my defeat and will cheerfully vote for the ticket nominated by a majority of the voters. Even if I had been keenly disappoonted, I would have too much pride to show any chagrin. Under those circumstances when one's neighbors indicate by their votes that they prefer another candidate, the least the defeated one can do is to conceal his disappointment. Therefore to the defeated ones I say, 'Smile and look pleasant. There are other elections coming, and your turn may come next time if you really want public preferment.'"

"The beneficient effects of the uniform primary law can be seen by the election of today," remarked a citizen Saturday night, after the polls had closed. "You noticed by the voting today that it was evident to all that the candidate to win must get the votes, and that while many were active in behalf of their friends, there was no attempt to browbeat or coerce or even unduly influence voters. Everything was orderly, no effects of booze were apparent, and even those who were working hardest for their friends were civil and gentlemanly in their efforts. Few voters who are known to be thoroughly conversant with borough affairs were even approached by the workers, who gave them credit with knowing how they wanted to vote. The result, while it may have been a disappointment to some candidates and their friends, was clearly the choice of a majority of the voters. This, in my opinion, is the ideal way of nominating candidates and conducting an election, and the popular vote at the primary election is what has put all the old time politicians up in the air. The latter to win must sanction good candidates, which is having a decided effect upon the civic advancement of the State."

point of view and it is probable that the most of them would have won out anyhow, even if an organized attempt had been made in their behalf. "Dick" Miller for district attorney and "Bert" Lutton for sheriff could no doubt have beaten the field under any circumstances, and the most of the other candidates were personally strong accordingly.

The slate, however did not pass through Charleroi without getting a few scratches. John H. Bowers got a majority for treasurer, as did Loren Hopkins for register of wills.

Returns Not All in Yet

Murdock Thought to Lead For Sheriff on Democratic and Keystone Tickets

Advices from the county seat are to the effect that insufficient returns have been received from the various districts to determine the result of the Democratic-Keystone nominations in the county. It is believed that James W. Murdock has won the nomination for sheriff, but the contest for district attorney seems to be close between W. R. Dennison and J. M. F. Hana. Indications also point to the nomination of A. P. Barnum of Allenport as one of the candidates for county commissioner. The contest for treasurer thus far is close between R. L. McCarrell and R. L. Hays. It will probably take the officiall count to decide the contests.

LOCAL MENTION

Perce D. Pollock and Clarence B. James have gone to Pittsburg to enroll as students in the dental school of the University of Pittsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Whitlatch and daughter Dorothy spent Sunday as the guests of W. E. McFall near Allenport.

Miss Maud Spidell is spending the day in Pittsburg.

Controller and Mrs. John H. Moffitt of Washington were over Sunday guests of the former's mother, Mrs. Mary Moffitt of Crest avenue.

Mrs. Clyde Sheep of Coraopolis is visiting friends in town.

Misses Myrtle Dunmire and Margaret Duvall spent Sunday in Bentleyville with friends.

Mrs. J. W. Hunter of Washington avenue is visiting friends in East Palestine, Ohio.

Bannister Roberts visited Sunday in Pittsburg.

Mrs. C. E. Miller of Columbus, O., returned Sunday night with Mrs. J. K. Tener, Mrs. Arthur W. Day, Mrs. E. C. Niver and Mrs. W. H. Coles who went to that place last week with Mrs. Tener in Governor Tener's Pierce Arrow motor car.

Have an Aim in Life.

Go into a factory where they make mariners' compasses, and you may see the needles before they have been magnetized. They will then point in any direction, but from the moment they are applied to the magnet they point to the north, and are true to the pole ever afterward In this they are like the young man before and after he has a purpose in life.

Eternal Feminine.

Lady—Why are you all so worried? Captain—The fact is, madam, we have broken our rudder. Lady—Is that all. Well, the rudder is under water and it won't show. Let's go on.—Toledo Blade.

YOU TAKE NO RISK

Our Reputation and Money Is Back of This Offer

We pay for all the medicine used during the trial, if our remedy fails to completely relieve you of constipation. We take all the risk. You are not obligated to us in any way whatever, if you accept our offer. Could anything be more fair to you? Is there any reason why you should hesitate to put our claims to a practical test?

The most scientific, common-sense treatment is Rexall Orderlies, which are eaten like candy. They are very pronounced, gentle and pleasant in action, and particularly agreeable in every way. They do not cause diarreoea, nausea, flatulence, griping or any inconvenience whatever. Rexall Orderlies are particularly good for children, aged and delicate persons.

We urge you to try Rexall Orderlies at our risk. Three sizes, 10c, 25c and 50c. Remember, you can get Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store. Carroll's Drug Store, 623 Fallowfield Avenue.

COUPLE ELOPES TO WELLSBURG

Leaving their homes unknown to their friends and proceeding to Wellsburg, W. Va., last Thursday James Gray and Miss Catherine Schaming, well known young people returned a day or so later and have gone to housekeeping on Fallowfield avenue. The affair came as a big surprise to the friends of the couple. The bride is the daughter of Nicholas Schaming, and is a popular young woman. The groom is an estimable young man and is employed at the Imperial Bottle factory as a blower. The couple were tendered the best wishes of their many friends in Charleroi.

Laughter.

Laughter, while it lasts, slackens and unbraces the mind, weakens the faculties and causes a kind of remissness and dissolution in all the powers of the soul, and thus far it may be looked upon as a weakness in the composition of human nature. But if we consider the frequent reliefs we receive from it and how often it breaks the gloom which is apt to depress the mind and damp our spirits with transient unexpected gleams of joy, one would take care not to grow too wise for so great a pleasure of life.—Addison.

Light Men.

At a certain hotel in Liverpool an Englishman, an Irishman and a Scotsman were arguing as to which of their respective countries had the lightest men.

The Irishman led the argument by saying:

"We have men of Cork!"

"That may be," said the Scotsman; "but we have men of Ayr."

"Well," said the cockney, "that is very light, but we have 'lighter' men on the Thames."

His Ways.

"My husband," sobbed Mrs. Frivol, "is the most contrary kind of a man."

"How so?" asked her sympathetic friend.

"Why, every time," responded the aggrieved wife, "that I begin dressing up he is sure to give me a dressing down."—Baltimore American.

Hidden Danger.

Cannot Cast the Future.

A man may presume to know much of what is passing, but he dare not predict what part of the passing show shall disappear, as a fashion does, in time. It must follow, as no man can pretend to place his finger unerringly on just that particular part, then no man can begin to tell just what man or woman living today will be revered in time to come.

General Bate's Unlighted Cigars.

General William B. Bate of Tennessee after distinguished service in behalf of the south was governor and then United States senator. His bravery in battle [illegible] wounds, and in a single engagement three horses were shot from under him.

"It was a habit of the old warrior," said a man who knew him well, "to continually carry an unlighted cigar in his mouth, but few of those who noticed it ever knew the reason of his failure to smoke the weed. At the battle of Shiloh he and a brother were standing side by side when the brother asked General Bate for a light, as he had a cigar, but no match. The general lit a match and handed it to his kinsman, who had scarcely applied it to the tobacco ere a cannon ball came hurtling through the air and severed the smoker's head from his body. The terrible tragedy of Shiloh's bloody field was why in all the years that followed the surviving brother was never known to light a cigar."

Our First Steam Warship.

The Fulton, which at the time of her construction in the early thirties was classed as a "steam battery," was the first United States warship that was propelled by steam. She was built under the superintendence of Commodore Matthew Galbraith Perry and at the time of her completion in 1837 was regarded as one of the world's wonders by way of naval architecture and power at sea. The Fulton was the cause of no little speculation on the part of European powers, for at that time she was looked upon by other nations as all but invincible. When this wonder of the sea was put in commission Commodore Perry, then holding the rank of commander, was put in command of her, and he presently came to be called the "father of the steam navy." The Fulton was built primarily for defense of New York harbor, but she served as well to demonstrate the practical utility of steam power for warships.—New York Times.

Silent Lawyers.

It is almost a maxim nowadays that a lawyer's real importance at the bar is in inverse ratio to his prominence in the papers. The truth is that lawyers of great importance seldom nowadays appear in court. In the old days the great lawyer was the eloquent lawyer; today the great lawer is the silent one. Then bar reputations were made literally at the bar. Today they are made in the offices of the skyscrapers neighboring on Wall street. In England a visit any day to the law courts will be repaid by the sight of some famous K. C. assisting the court in a dramatization of the trial chapter from "Alice In Wonderland." But you might prowl for a month within the precincts of the New York courthouse without encountering a lawyer whose name would signify anything remarkable to the historian of the New York bar.—American Magazine.

Curious Justice.

A Paris contemporary gives us a glimpse of the administration of justice among the natives in the Lower Niger territory, which for its efficacy migh be compared with Swift's account of the means adopted by judicial authorities in Laputa, we believe, to discover conspirators. If a native is accused of theft the heads of the village make a decoction of herbs and put into the essence about a grain of ground pepper. The liquid is then lightly applied to the eyelid. If the suspect weeps he is considered guilty. But the murder test is an improvement upon that of theft. The "wise man" of the district draws a vessel of water, into which he puts some poison. Then he takes a cow's tail and "asperges" the eyes of the supposed assassin. If the man becomes blind he is pronounced a murderer.

For Testing Gold.

The acid used by jewelers for testing gold is extremely powerful and has to be very carefully handled. To prevent any considerable quantity of the acid being spilled a specially constructed bottle is employed. The stopper of this is made of glass and contains a long pointed glass rod which passes down the center of the bottle. When an article of jewelry is to be tested the stopper is simply removed, and the article is touched with the point of the glass rod to which a very slight quantity of acid has adhered. Gold is not affected by the acid, but imitation metal turns green.

One Way to Arbitrate.

Commodore Vanderbilt used often to arbitrate his tenants' disputes, and one day two farmers called on him in his function of arbitrator. The commodore before consenting to act put to the first tenant the necessary question:

"Now, Henry, if I consent to arbitrate will you abide by my decision?"

The farmer, a hard headed old fellow, answered thoughtfully:

"Well, commodore, I'd like to know what it is first."

A Cruel Apologist.

"Mr. Bliggins takes himself very seriously," said the critical young woman.

"Well," replied Miss Cayenne, "you can't blame him. To be thrown into a cruel world with no more brains than he possesses would be a serious matter for anybody."—Washington Star.

Modern Maps.

There are Egyptian maps dating from 1400 B. C., but in spite of this long history it has been astonishingly difficult to make progress in charts until very recent times. Errors are perpetuated; truth is forgotten; advance is slow. As late as 1900 charts of the Alaskan coast issued by the United States were said to be thirty miles wrong, and nearly all commercial map makers still represent mountain chains as caterpillars, and the fringe of the shore is adorned with a blue wavy frill. As for railroad maps, the less said the better, the great railroad map of the northern belt of the United States adorning the walls of the Broad street Pennsylvania station in Philadelphia being distorted east and west, north and south and otherwise, its accuracy in large part not being over 30 per cent, yet it is a more than usually good railroad map.—Engineering Magazine.

The Last Gladiators.

It was in A. D. 430 that the edict was passed which forever abolished the gladiatorial combats. In the deserts of Lybia there lived a monk named Telemachus, who, touched by the cruel stories of the combats, went to Rome, leaped over the barrier of the arena of the Coliseum, threw himself between the groups of fighters and implored them in the name of Christ to desist. Telemachus fell, slain by the swords of the gladiators, but there never was another fight in the Coliseum. The spirit of the monk had its effect, and the above mentioned edict was soon passed.

Cruikshank's Fagin.

During the time Cruikshank was illustrating "Oliver Twist" he spent days traversing the east end of London in search of a face that would correspond with his conception of the character of Fagin. One day while standing before a mirror in his dining room "puling faces at himself," so to speak, for the want of something better to do, he accidentally made the features for which he was looking. The picture, therefore of Fagin is really that of Cruikshank.

Relics of Past Ages.

An interesting discovery was made recently at Spittal (Eng.) by a number of workmen. While digging operations were being carried on, a quantity of human bones were turned up This was followed by the unearthing of a number of stone coffins, each containing human remains. The coffins bore no resemblance to the massive sarcophagus recently disinterred at Berwick, but consisted simply of rough stone slabs.

Changing Hospital Character.

The question in hospitals has gradually become not "Is this patient poor enough to be admitted to the hospital?" but "Is he ill enough, or is his illness of the kind to require the special services which the hospital is organized to render?"—British Medical Journal.

The Keyston, Prohibition and Socialist parties polled but a small vote in North Chareroi. Presumably most of the former Keystoners asked for either the Democratic or Republican ballot and "went along." There were four votes cast on the Keystone ticket, two on the Socialist and one on the Prohibition.

JEWS CELEBTATE SOLEMN FAST DAY

Day of Atonement, or Yom Kippur Brings Hebrews to Synagogue

The Jewish people in every locality are today celebrating the holiest day in the entire Jewish calendar. This period is Yom Kippur, and it is the day that the devout Israelite gives himself entirely into the hands of God for the purifying of his soul by repentance. Among the Jews the day is a period of fasting.

Yom Kippur completed the penitential period of 10 days that began with New Years and is familiarly called the day of atonement. The observance began with the evening service called Kol Nidre, which were held in the various synagogues last evening beginning with sundown. Services will continue until sundown tonight. At intervals during the services the shofar is blown and it is also blown to designate the close of the solemn services.

Services are being held in the Bank of Charleroi hall today by the local Hebrews.

Mixed History.

A university student who was being examined in history wrote: "Queen Elizabeth rode a white horse from Kenilworth through Coventry, with nothing on, and Raleigh offered her his cloak." Another wrote: "The gods of the Indians are chiefly Mohammed and Buddha, and in their spare time they do lots of carving."

The song that was selected as one of the most beautiful ballads in a competition at Dreamland Park, Chicago, will be sung at Palace tonight. 56-t1

Owing to the number of candidates and the complexity of the ticket the count was slow and arduous, some of the boards not finishing until late Sunday morning. After the count was completed so many return sheets were necessary to make out, that it taxed the capacity of the clerical force of the boards.

The total vote polled in the borough was 911 of which 784 were Republican. These were divided among the six precincts as follows.

First	270
Second	150
Third	98
Fourth	206
Fifth	82
Sixth	105
Total	911

The 132 ballots that were not Republicans were divided among the Democrats, Keystoners, Prohibitionists and Socialists.

TO SUPERINTEND CONSTRUCTION

R. C. Roberts, son of R. A. Roberts of Crest avenue left Sunday for Chicago, and after a day or so there will go to St. Louis, where he has been sent by the General Chemical Company to superintend the construction of a new plant. "Dale" has been employed by the General Chemical Company at the Newell plant ever since its construction, and evidnece that he had made good is in the fact of his promotion to such an important part as superintendent of construction. He will be in entire charge of the work at St. Louis.

Real Class to These Apples

Henry Walters who lives in Franklin township, Fayette county, was in Charleroi visiting at the home of his sister-inlaw, Mrs. Thomas Galbraith of Washington avenue. He brought some apples from the farm he now lives on which has been in the family for 52 years. The apples were of what is known as the Vandver variety, and the tree on which they were grown is over 70 years old. The remarkable thing about the apples is that the variety is ungrafted fruit, and is one of the few instances of the natural variety developing forward instead of reverting.

Visitors are Welcome.

The Socialists of Charleroi hold their meetings on the first and third Sundays of each month in Co-operative Hall, 620 Fallowfield avenue at 7 p. m. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend these meetings.

Aeroplane to Carry Mail

R. Dale Jolliffe, of Fallowfield avenue, is probaby the first person in this vicinity to receive mail matter that had been conveyed partly by aeroplane. The piece of mail matter is a post card from a friend in New York city. It was mailed at "Aeroplane Station No 1," at New York and bears a picture of an aeroplanist, presumably the one that acted as the first carrier in the newly established aeroplane postal service.

HOT BATTLE WAGED AT THE LOCAL PRIMARIES

Interest Centered in Republican Nominations for Offices

NAMES OF THE WINNERS

Duvall, Gaut, Rickey and Riva Lead in Councilmanic Contest

Like nearly every other community in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania the contest at the primary election in Charleroi Saturday hinged on the Republican nominations. Although a vigorous contest was waged from the time the polls opened until they closed in the interests of various candidates, there was a remarkable freedom from personal rancor or bitterness. An organized effort was made in behalf of several candidates, and it was generally successful. The Republican ticket nominated, however, is a strong one and generally satisfactory to the voters, as it was chosen in a fair contest in the open field.

One of the surprises was the po showing made by the Democratic-Keystone fusion ticket. Both the Democratic and Keystone tickets were the same, but no greater vote was polled for the combined ticket than the Democrats usually cast in the ordinary off year in Charler . Both the Socialists and the Prohibitionists apparently got lost in the shuffle, as the representation they showed at the primary was scarcely worth counting, and shows that they have no local organization, their chief strength being shown usually in the vote for county or State officials.

Basing the vote cast on the total registration, which was 1,736, an exceedingly light vote was polled, but comparing it with the vote of other years, as many voters are absent from town working elsewhere on account of the shut down of local industries, it was a good turn out.

Owin to the early destruction of the return sheets in some of the precincts before the returns could be secured Sunday morning, it is difficult to give exact returns and the Prohibitionist and Socialist vote is so insignificant, that no account is taken of it. The following are the Republican and Democratic Keystone tickets nominated by the voters of their respective parties:

Republican.

Council, full term—David R. Duvall, W. R. Gaut, John K. Rickey. Short term—Frank Riva.

School Director, four years—W. D. Pollock, Jos. Schoener. Six years—John Fries, Carl Mountsier, Dr. F. C. Stahlman. Two years—H. J. Booth, J. M. Hill.

Justice of the Peace—E. E Rice, Jos. A. Wheeler.

High Constable—C. W. Albright.

Milk Price Is Up Again

Lacteal Fluid Will Now Cost Local People 10 Cents Per Quart

After allowing milk [illegible] of Charleroi the grace of five months low price on milk, dairymen Sunday put their winter rate of 10 cents per quart into effect. The price of milk by agreement of the Fallowfield Dairymen's Association, which really controls the milk trade in Charleroi, was reduced from 10 cents a quart to 8 cents the first of May, this price to stand all summer. For seven months from the first of October the price will be 10 cents—if a brand new agreement doesn't shove the price up another notch.

GOVERNOR GETS WORD

News of Awful Austin Disaster Received by Executive

TAFT SENDS MESSAGE

Governor J. K. Tener's presence in his home town Saturday made Charleroi an important point after the news of the bursting of the dam which wiped out the towns of Austin, Costello and several other hamlets up in Potter county had been flashed over the State. Telegrams poured into Charleroi to the Governor, chiefly from the large newspapers from Philadelphia and other large cities, as well as from official circles. This was the first intelligence Chareroi had of the great disaster which is believed to have wiped out several hundred lives and destroyed millions of dollars worth of property.

Governor Tener, however, had departed for Pittsburg before any of the telegrams reached Charleroi. Messages were wired back to the inquiries telling the senders where to locate the Chief Eecutive of the State, who was appealed to for aid to render assistance to the stricken district. The Governor acted with his usual prompt decision. He dispatched the State Constabulary to the district at once and issued orders to the Adjutant General to rush at once to the stricken district the tents and military supplies of the State to take care of the homeless and destitute people.

Today messages continue to come to Charleroi addressed to Governor Tener. One of these was a message from President Taft dated at Omaha, Nebraska and another was from Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey. Of course the contents of these messages were unknown, as they were relayed to Harrisburg, but it is presumed that President Taft is tendering the assistance of the Government and that Governor Wilson is doing the same for his State. Other messages addressed to the Governor at Charleroi are being constantly received.

NOMINEES FOR COUNCIL

Neither the Democrats or the Keystoners polled a large vote at the Charleroi primaries Saturday. Hays was a favorite over McCarrell for county treasurer and Barnum for Hazen led for county commissioner. Dennison ran ahead for district attorney and Berkhimer for sheriff. The results are as follows, the first number after each name being the total number of votes cast by the Democrats and the second number being total number of votes cast by the Keystoners. There is one exception to this rule, Edward Callaghan who ran only upon the Democratic ticket for Sheriff.

County Commissioner—Barnum 51, 23; Barre 3, 1; Hazen 51, 14; Horn 4, 2; Linn 2, 4; Robison 10, 5; Smith 14, 0; Sutherland 11, 2; Warrick 3, 0; Wilson 5, 3.

County Treasurer—Hays 47, 17; McCarrell 23, 16.

Sheriff—Berkhimer 37, 18; Callaghan 13; Ely 1, 3; Murdock 21, 7; Work 4, 3.

Register of Wills—Bristor 23, 15; Sprowls 25, 4; Young 21, 8.

FIGHT FOR REGISTER

Warm Battle Between Parshall and Wickerham But Former Comes Ahead

With a rather light vote in the county at the primaries Saturday, the Republican slate went through with never a crack. While all returns were not in yet at the county seat at this writing, those received thus far showed that the only really close contest was in the nomination for register of wills. There the fight was close between Boyd C. Parshall and Frank G. Wickerham, the first returns giving the latter a lead. Later returns, however, gave Parshall a comfortable lead which it is thought cannot be overcome by the complete returns. The Republican ticket nominated is as follows:

Commissioners—John A. Berry, Thomas Hill.

Treasurer—S. M. Downer.

Sheriff—Robert G. Lutton.

Register of Wills—Boyd C. Parshall.

Prothonotary—A. V. Lewis.

District Attorney—Richard G. Miller.

Clerk of Courts—William S. Lockhart.

Coroner—James T. Heffran.

Director of Poor—H.D. Browneller, R. W. Wolfe.

Surveyor—George S. Chaney.

John H. Bowers of Charleroi, who was a candidate for treasurer, is apparently third in the race. Mr. Bowers made a splendid showing in his home tow receiving 463 votes out of the 739 cast for treasurer, and having a clear majority of 197 over all his opponents. It is evident that the support Mr. Bowers had assurance of in many districts failed to materialize at the polls, which was a keen disappointment to him and his many friends who were led to believe that his chances were excellent.

"Jimmy" Heffran, the Speers candidate for coroner, is nominated to succeed himself by a comfortable majority. In spite of the fight on the record of the old county commissioners—Hill and Berry—both are nominated to succeed themselves, the latter leading by a big purality. E. J. Cairns, the Roscoe candidate for county commissioner, got a good vote in his own district, but was not sufficiently strong elsewhere to make much headway. In Charleroi he received 324 votes, which is within 45 of that given to Hill, who led the ticket here. Tom Mitchell, the labor candidate also received a good vote in Chareroi, the number accorded him being 204.

As a matter of fact the so-called Republican slate was on exceedingly strong combination from a personal

SATURDAY'S PRIMARIES.

The Republicans of Pennsylvania did considerable political house cleaning at the primaries on Saturday. Candidates for important offices were nominated in every district and reports indicate that the Republicans moved cautiously and carefully in their selections. In every instance the successful nominees were the choice of the voters expressed by ballot which makes them the undoubted choice of their party.

One of the striking features of the primaries was the evidence of the decay of the so-called reform parties and political isms throughout the State and the apparent return of political sanity to the voters. The primary results indicate positively that the Republican pary in Pennsylvania was never in better form to meet the common enemy in the State contests which will take form immediately after the November election. The Republican leadership in Pennsylvania has been approved by the Republican voters and that promises well for the party in the future.

FALLS SHORT.

The Fallowfield Milkmen's Association has one feature of the trust business down pat, and that is the selling price. The members meet and boost the price to ten cents a quart, which perhaps lets them out of the hole, but shoves the consumer deeper down into the slough of despond.

If carried out to its full extent, the trust idea ought to not only cheapen production—or distribution in this case—to the consumer, and at the same time make easier conditions for the producers. If the milkmen had cheapened the cost of distribution instead of raising the price they would have accomplished the same end. As it is too much money is invested in horses, milk wagons, cans, and other outfits, and too much labor is expended in distributing the milk to patrons. One or two wagons would perhaps suffice in hauling the milk to the town and distributing it where now perhaps a dozen are used. This is the benefit of the trust methods but is is usually worked to the disadvantage of the consumer instead of the advantage.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"The thing to do after election is to smile and look pleasant," remarked a defeated candidate for one of the borough offices this morning. "Upon the solicitation of many of my neighbors I consented to let my name appear on the Republican ticket for one of the borough offices. I can truthfully say I didn't want the office and made no hustle for it. I am not sore, over my defeat and will cheerfully vote for the ticket nominated by a majority of the voters. Even if I had been keenly disappoonted, I would have too much pride to show any chagrin. Under those circumstances when one's neighbors indicate by their votes that they prefer another candidate, the least the defeated one can do is to conceal his disappointment. Therefore to the defeated ones I say, 'Smile and look pleasant. There are other elections coming, and your turn may come next time if you really want public preferment.'"

"The beneficient effects of the uniform primary law can be seen by the election of today," remarked a citizen Saturday night, after the polls had closed. "You noticed by the voting today that it was evident to all that the candidate to win must get the votes, and that while many were active in behalf of their friends, there was no attempt to browbeat or coerce or even unduly influence voters. Everything was orderly, no effects of booze were apparent, and even those who were working hardest for their friends were civil and gentlemanly in their efforts. Few voters who are known to be thoroughly conversant with borough affairs were even approached by the workers, who gave them credit with knowing how they wanted to vote. The result, while it may have been a disappointment to some candidates and their friends, was clearly the choice of a majority of the voters. This, in my opinion, is the ideal way of nominating candidates and conducting an election, and the popular vote at the primary election is what has put all the old time politicians up in the air. The latter to win must sanction good candidates, which is having a decided effect upon the civic advancement of the State."

point of view and it is probable that the most of them would have won out anyhow, even if an organized attempt had been made in their behalf. "Dick" Miller for district attorney and "Bert" Lutton for sheriff could no doubt have beaten the field under any circumstances, and the most of the other candidates were personally strong accordingly.

The slate, however did not pass through Charleroi without getting a few scratches. John H. Bowers got a majority for treasurer, as did Loren Hopkins for register of wills.

We are building a business. We have a reputation to maintain. We must keep faith with the public and give them more for their money than they can get elsewhere, or we cannot make this business grow. We want your business this winter. We want to sell you all the shoes you and your family need. If you value the dollars you earn, and propose to spend your money where it will bring you the most actual value, come here for your shoes.

We not only want your business now, but we want you for a permanent customer. We will give so much for every dollar you spend here that you are sure to come again.

If you buy shoes here you know you are getting full value for your money. We stand back of every pair we sell and you'll find us here each and every day, ready and glad to right any wrong.

Look around at other stores. Then come here. You'll find this store the store to put your faith in.

Murdock Thought to Lead For Sheriff on Democratic and Keystone Tickets

Advices from the county seat are to the effect that insufficient returns have been received from the various districts to determine the result of the Democratic-Keystone nominations in the county. It is believed that James W. Murdock has won the nomination for sheriff, but the contest for district attorney seems to be close between W. R. Dennison and J. M. F. Hana. Indications also point to the nomination of A. P. Barnum of Allenport as one of the candidates for county commissioner. The contest for treasurer thus far is close between R. L. McCarrell and R. L. Hays. It will probably take the official count to decide the contests.

LOCAL MENTION

Perce D. Pollock and Clarence B. James have gone to Pittsburg to enroll as students in the dental school of the University of Pittsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Whitlatch and daughter Dorothy spent Sunday as the guests of W. E. McFall near Allenport.

Miss Maud Spidell is spending the day in Pittsburg.

Controller and Mrs. John H. Moffitt of Washington were over Sunday guests of the former's mother, Mrs. Mary Moffitt of Crest avenue.

Mrs. Clyde Sheep of Coraopolis is visiting friends in town.

Misses Myrtle Dunmire and Margaret Duvall spent Sunday in Bentleyville with friends.

Mrs. J. W. Hunter of Washington avenue is visiting friends in East Palestine, Ohio.

Bannister Roberts visited Sunday in Pittsburg.

Mrs. C. E. Miller of Columbus, O., returned Sunday night with Mrs. J. K. Tener, Mrs. Arthur W. Day, Mrs. E. C. Niver and Mrs. W. H. Coles who went to that place last week with Mrs. Tener in Governor Tener's Pierce Arrow motor car.

Have an Aim in Life.

Go into a factory where they make mariners' compasses, and you may see the needles before they have been magnetized. They will then point in any direction, but from the moment they are applied to the magnet they point to the north, and are true to the pole ever afterward. In this they are like the young man before and after he has a purpose in life.

Eternal Feminine.

COUPLE ELOPES TO WELLSBURG

Leaving their homes unknown to their friends and proceeding to Wellsburg, W. Va., last Thursday James Gray and Miss Catherine Schaming, well known young people returned a day or so later and have gone to housekeeping on Fallowfield avenue. The affair came as a big surprise to the friends of the couple. The bride is the daughter of Nicholas Schaming, and is a popular young woman. The groom is an estimable young man and is employed at the Imperial Bottle factory as a blower. The couple were tendered the best wishes of their many friends in Charleroi.

Laughter.

Laughter, while it lasts, slackens and unbraces the mind, weakens the faculties and causes a kind of remissness and dissolution in all the powers of the soul, and thus far it may be looked upon as a weakness in the composition of human nature. But if we consider the frequent reliefs we receive from it and how often it breaks the gloom which is apt to depress the mind and damp our spirits with transient unexpected gleams of joy, one would take care not to grow too wise for so great a pleasure of life.—Addison.

Light Men.

At a certain hotel in Liverpool an Englishman, an Irishman and a Scotsman were arguing as to which of their respective countries had the lightest men.

The Irishman led the argument by saying:

"We have men of Cork!"

"That may be," said the Scotsman; "but we have men of Ayr."

"Well," said the cockney, "that is very light, but we have 'lighter' men on the Thames."

His Ways.

"How so?" asked her sympathetic friend.

"Why, every time," responded the aggrieved wife, "that I begin dressing up he is sure to give me a dressing down."—Baltimore American.

Cannot Cast the Future.

A man may presume to know much of what is passing, but he dare not predict what part of the passing show shall disappear, as a fashion does, in time. It must follow, as no man can pretend to place his finger unerringly on just that particular part, then no man can begin to tell just what man or woman living today will be revered in time to come.

General Bate's Unlighted Cigars.

General William B. Bate of Tennessee after distinguished service in behalf of the south was governor and then United States senator. His bravery in battle was attested by a dozen wounds, and in a single engagement three horses were shot from under him.

"It was a habit of the old warrior," said a man who knew him well, "to continually carry an unlighted cigar in his mouth, but few of those who noticed it ever knew the reason of his failure to smoke the weed. At the battle of Shiloh he and a brother were standing side by side when the brother asked General Bate for a light, as he had a cigar, but no match. The general lit a match and handed it to his kinsman, who had scarcely applied it to the tobacco ere a cannon ball came hurtling through the air and severed the smoker's head from his body. The terrible tragedy of Shiloh's bloody field was why in all the years that followed the surviving brother was never known to light a cigar."

Our First Steam Warship.

The Fulton, which at the time of her construction in the early thirties was classed as a "steam battery," was the first United States warship that was propelled by steam. She was built under the superintendence of Commodore Matthew Galbraith Perry and at the time of her completion in 1837 was regarded as one of the world's wonders by way of naval architecture and power at sea. The Fulton was the cause of no little speculation on the part of European powers, for at that time she was looked upon by other nations as all but invincible. When this wonder of the sea was put in commission Commodore Perry, then holding the rank of commander, was put in command of her, and he presently came to be called the "father of the steam navy." The Fulton was built primarily for defense of New York harbor, but she served as well to demonstrate the practical utility of steam power for warships.—New York Times.

Silent Lawyers.

It is almost a maxim nowadays that a lawyer's real importance at the bar is in inverse ratio to his prominence in the papers. The truth is that lawyers of great importance seldom nowadays appear in court. In the old days the great lawyer was the eloquent lawyer; today the great lawer is the silent one. Then bar reputations were made literally at the bar. Today they are made in the offices of the skyscrapers neighboring on Wall street. In England a visit any day to the law courts will be repaid by the sight of some famous K. C. assisting the court in a dramatization of the trial chapter from "Alice In Wonderland." But you might prowl for a month within the precincts of the New York courthouse without encountering a lawyer whose name would signify anything remarkable to the historian of the New York bar.—American Magazine.

Curious Justice.

A Paris contemporary gives us a glimpse of the administration of justice among the natives in the Lower Niger territory, which for its efficacy migh be compared with Swift's account of the means adopted by judicial authorities in Laputa, we believe, to discover conspirators. If a native is accused of theft the heads of the village make a decoction of herbs and put into the essence about a grain of ground pepper. The liquid is then lightly applied to the eyelid. If the suspect weeps he is considered guilty. But the murder test is an improvement upon that of theft. The "wise man" of the district draws a vessel of water, into which he puts some poison. Then he takes a cow's tail and "asperges" the eyes of the supposed assassin. If the man becomes blind he is pronounced a murderer.

For Testing Gold.

The acid used by jewelers for testing gold is extremely powerful and has to be very carefully handled. To prevent any considerable quantity of the acid being spilled a specially constructed bottle is employed. The stopper of this is made of glass and contains a long pointed glass rod which passes down the center of the bottle. When an article of jewelry is to be tested the stopper is simply removed, and the article is touched with the point of the glass rod to which a very slight quantity of acid has adhered. Gold is not affected by the acid, but imitation metal turns green.

One Way to Arbitrate.

Commodore Vanderbilt used often to arbitrate his tenants' disputes, and one day two farmers called on him in his function of arbitrator. The commodore before consenting to act put to the first tenant the necessary question:

"Now, Henry, if I consent to arbitrate will you abide by my decision?"

The farmer, a hard headed old fellow, answered thoughtfully:

"Well, commodore, I'd like to know what it is first."

A Cruel Apologist.

"Mr. Bliggins takes himself very seriously," said the critical young woman.

"Well," replied Miss Cayenne, "you can't blame him. To be thrown into a cruel world with no more brains than he possesses would be a serious matter for anybody."—Washington Star.

Modern Maps.

There are Egyptian maps dating from 1400 B. C., but in spite of this long history it has been astonishingly difficult to make progress in charts until very recent times. Errors are perpetuated; truth is forgotten; advance is slow. As late as 1900 charts of the Alaskan coast issued by the United States were said to be thirty miles wrong, and nearly all commercial map makers still represent mountain chains as caterpillars, and the fringe of the shore is adorned with a blue wavy frill. As for railroad maps, the less said the better, the great railroad map of the northern belt of the United States adorning the walls of the Broad street Pennsylvania station in Philadelphia being distorted east and west, north and south and otherwise, its accuracy in large part not being over 30 per cent, yet it is a more than usually good railroad map.—Engineering Magazine.

The Last Gladiators.

It was in A. D. 430 that the edict was passed which forever abolished the gladiatorial combats. In the deserts of Lybia there lived a monk named Telemachus, who, touched by the cruel stories of the combats, went to Rome, leaped over the barrier of the arena of the Coliseum, threw himself between the groups of fighters and implored them in the name of Christ to desist. Telemachus fell, slain by the swords of the gladiators, but there never was another fight in the Coliseum. The spirit of the monk had its effect, and the above mentioned edict was soon passed.

Cruikshank's Fagin.

During the time Cruikshank was illustrating "Oliver Twist" he spent days traversing the east end of London in search of a face that would correspond with his conception of the character of Fagin. One day while standing before a mirror in his dining room "pulling faces at himself," so to speak, for the want of something better to do, he accidentally made the features for which he was looking. The picture, therefore, of Fagin is really that of Cruikshank himself.

Relics of Past Ages.

An interesting discovery was made recently at Spittal (Eng.) by a number of workmen. While digging operations were being carried on, a quantity of human bones were turned up. This was followed by the unearthing of a number of stone coffins, each containing human remains. The coffins bore no resemblance to the massive sarcophagus recently disinterred at Berwick, but consisted simply of rough stone slabs.

Changing Hospital Character.

The question in hospitals has gradually become not "Is this patient poor enough to be admitted to the hospital?" but "Is he ill enough, or is his illness of the kind to require the special services which the hospital is organized to render?"—British Medical Journal.

The Keyston, Prohibition and Socialist parties polled but a small vote in North Chareroi. Presumably most of the former Keystoners asked for either the Democratic or Republican ballot and "went along." There were four votes cast on the Keystone ticket, two on the Socialist and one on the Prohibition.

JEWS CELEBTATE SOLEMN FAST DAY

Day of Atonement, or Yom Kippur Brings Hebrews to Synagogue

The Jewish people in every locality are today celebrating the holiest day in the entire Jewish calendar. This period is Yom Kippur, and it is the day that the devout Israelite gives himself entirely into the hands of God for the purifying of his soul by repentance. Among the Jews the day is a period of fasting.

Yom Kippur completed the penitential period of 10 days that began with New Years and is familiarly called the day of atonement. The observance began with the evening service called Kol Nidre, which were held in the various synagogues last evening beginning with sundown. Services will continue until sundown tonight. At intervals during the services the shofar is blown and it is also blown to designate the close of the solemn services.

Services are being held in the Bank of Charleroi hall today by the local Hebrews.

Mixed History.

A university student who was being examined in history wrote: "Queen Elizabeth rode a white horse from Kenilworth through Coventry, with nothing on, and Raleigh offered her his cloak." Another wrote: "The gods of the Indians are chiefly Mohammed and Buddha, and in their spare time they do lots of carving."

The song that was selected as one of the most beautiful ballads in a competition at Dreamland Park, Chicago, will be sung at Palace tonight. 56-t1

High Constable—James Myers

Constable—Chas. Herron.

Auditor—R. Dale Jolliffe.

Owing to the number of candidates and the complexity of the ticket the count was slow and arduous, some of the boards not finishing until late Sunday morning. After the count was completed so many return sheets were necessary to make out, that it taxed the capacity of the clerical force of the boards.

The total vote polled in the borough was 911 of which 784 were Republican. These were divided among the six precincts as follows.

First	270
Second	150
Third	98
Fourth	206
Fifth	82
Sixth	105
Total	911

The 132 ballots that were not Republicans were divided among the Democrats, Keystoners, Prohibitionists and Socialists.

CHARLEROI PENN'A

TO SUPERINTEND CONSTRUCTION

R. C. Roberts, son of R. A. Roberts of Crest avenue left Sunday for Chicago, and after a day or so there will go to St. Louis, where he has been sent by the General Chemical Company to superintend the construction of a new plant. "Dale" has been employed by the General Chemical Company at the Newell plant ever since its construction, and evidnece that he had made good is in the fact of his promotion to such an important part as superintendent of construction. He will be in entire charge of the work at St. Louis.

SOUSA'S BAND IN THE FIJI ISLANDS

Peter Decker of Fallowfield avenue some days ago reveived a postcard from his cousin, William Decker who is a member of Sousa's band, saying that the band was then in Honolulu. A few days later he received another lost card from the Fiji Islands. Decker sent his best regards to all his friends in Charleroi.

Safety in Aviation.

The upper side of a dirigible balloon built for the British navy has been coated with aluminum dust to reflect the sun's rays and lessen the effect of their heat on the gas it contains

Real Class to These Apples

Henry Walters who lives in Franklin township, Fayette county, was in Charleroi visiting at the home of his sister-inlaw, Mrs. Thomas Galbraith of Washington avenue. He brought some apples from the farm he now lives on which has been in the family for 52 years. The apples were of what is known as the Vandver variety, and the tree on which they were grown is over 70 years old. The remarkable thing about the apples is that the variety is ungrafted fruit, and is one of the few instances of the natural variety developing forward instead of reverting.

Visitors are Welcome.

The Socialists of Charleroi hold their meetings on the first and third Sundays of each month in Co-operative Hall, 620 Fallowfield avenue at 7 p. m. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend these meetings.

Aeroplane to Carry Mail

R. Dale Jolliffe, of Fallowfield avenue, is probaby the first person in this vicinity to receive mail matter that had been conveyed partly by aeroplane. The piece of mail matter is a post card from a friend in New York city. It was mailed at "Aeroplane Station No 1," at New York and bears a picture of an aeroplanist, presumably the one that acted as the first carrier in the newly established aeroplane postal service.
